THE EXECUTIVE CLASS

ADVANTAGE

Relationship-Driven Customer Service

Our coordinators are trained in understanding the unique needs of your executives and their families. We provide a very personalized service specific to the circumstances of each family and deliver amenities that go beyond administrative functions.

Single Point Crews

"Pack, load and deliver" is the only service Executive Class provides. Our management team believes the best way to control a shipment is to utilize the same crews throughout the process and across the country. From initial home protection through destination unpacking, we create a seamless service that builds trust with your transferee and their family.

Reduced Number of Workers in Your Executive's Home

Our drivers are trained in third-party services. Most ancillary services, including crating and appliances, are handled by the Executive Class crew, giving your executive one less entity with whom to interact. The pricing is also more cost-efficient than a typical third-party servicing company.

Expedited Delivery

Our trucks are empty when we arrive to load, leaving a full 4,600-cubic-foot, 32,000-pound truck capacity available. Overflows are significantly reduced since we are not loading additional shipments. If a single large shipment exceeds the trailer capacity, we rent another truck at no additional cost to the client. We load the additional truck the same day and deliver direct with the main shipment, avoiding any inconvenience to the executive.

Cost Savings

By handling traditional third-party services ourselves and delivering your shipments faster through our expedited program, we get your executive back to work within days. This results in an average $1,300 savings per shipment in per diem and reduced third-party charges.

Minimized Missing Items and Claims

Exclusive use of our Executive Class truck virtually eliminates the dilemma of missing items. Executive Class averages 1 claim in 7 shipments, compared to the industry average of 1 in 4.

On-Site Management

When your Executive needs additional assistance with running errands, guidance with organizational direction, or help handling the minor details that arise during a move, we have the answer!
